

CELEBRATING 4TH HAI HAND HYGIENE DAY AT THE LEELA PALACE NEW DELHI

To commemorate the celebration of 'Hand Hygiene Day', significant communication with effective messages was displayed prominently in the back of the house.

The Palace voluntary team organized a visit to a local NDMS Primary School in Netaji Nagar where young students were engaged with interesting stories, quizzes to understand the importance of keeping their hands clean and sanitized. Students were rewarded with chocolates for their active participation in making this endeavor a success. To reinforce what was being taught, live demonstrations were undertaken for the students which was practiced by the group in small batches. Sanitizers were distributed to students and everyone was asked to demonstrate the same to their own family members and friends to create substantial awareness.

At the hotel, short films and documentaries related to the subject were screened for drivers and the contractual staff who was duly briefed about the practice of frequent washing of hands, keeping sanitizers in the vehicle, and keeping their vehicle handles clean at all times. Sessions were concluded with a quiz for the tourist vehicle drivers to ensure that messages were rightly delivered to the team on the subject and sanitizers were gifted to each participant.
